Profile:

My coding journey began as a hobby in 2000. First, I worked with HTML and was hooked. A few years later, I learned CSS. Finally, I taught myself a bit of JavaScript for a hidden picture game.

I graduated from Purdue University Global - Summa Cum Laude - with an Associate degree in Software Development/Computer Programming. I love creating beautiful, functional web pages that enhance a user's experience and are secure and accessible to all. During my internship at PGIP-Tech, I was the software development lead. I went back afterward and became a mentor.

Helping interns with coding questions, most recently React and general OOP problems and questions, accessibility awareness, and front-end security awareness.	Designed my personal profile website, coded it in HTML, CSS, Bootstrap, and jQuery, and launched it using FileZilla.	Kept interns on track assigned tasks, worked with Docker, PHP and MySQLi on group project, and helped interns pick a path and the stack they needed.
